Master of Business – Double Specialisations Commencing T3-2016

Double specialisations require you to complete

- 4 foundation subjects (ACCY801, MARK803, MGNT803 and BUS802)
- 2 specialisations with 5 compulsory core subjects in each specialisation (total 10 subjects)
- 1 elective (list dependent upon your specialisations should be left until the end of your sequence)
  (NB: – students combining Management and International Business – have 2 electives as they have one common core subject)
- 1 research capstone subject MGNT922 which should be taken in your last session of study

Please note: It is important to complete the 800 level subjects before undertaking the 900 (core specialisation) subjects as this gives you the theoretical, research and learning background to study the more difficult subjects.

A full time study load is 3 subjects a session. For International students (in Australia on a student visa) a reduced (part-time) study load can only be taken with approval of the Head of Students, so that visa conditions are not breached.

With subjects in each core not every subject is on in every session, so following a study sequence is important to help you complete your subjects and specialisations. You should aim to complete the core of one specialisation first, in case personal circumstances require you to change to a single specialisation degree.

For students commencing in Trimester 3 2016

If you are enrolled in the full 16 subject double specialisation degree:

For Trimester 3 2016 enrol in

- ACCY 801 Accounting and Financial Management
- MARK804 Foundations of Marketing Management
- MGNT 803 Organisational Behaviour and Management

regardless of your specialisations (majors). As noted above it is important that you do these foundation subjects first before studying the subjects in your specialisations.

For Trimester 1 2017 enrol in

- ECON802 The Economics of Global Business Challenges
- Plus 2 of the core subjects from one of your specialisations

Managing the rest of your study sequence

To manage the rest of your study sequence, and access the latest support information relating to your degree program please enrol in our Moodle site for the Master of Business. This Moodle also has information relating to your specialisation (major) and electives.

You can self-enrol in this Moodle site by:

1. Accessing eLearning from your SOLS menu.

2. Log into the eLearning system (Moodle) using your UOW user name and password.

3. In the search sites box enter Master of Business.

4. Select the site by clicking on Master of Business (PROJ043_16).

5. When asked for an enrolment key enter MBus2016.

Your access to the Master of Business site will remain active while you are enrolled at UOW in this degree. Subject Moodle sites will be automatically provided to you when you are enrolled in a subject during a trimester.
